Here are a few words about our honorees:

Neidi Dominguez is one of the most dynamic, effective and dedicated young activists on behalf of the DREAM Act and immigrants' rights.

Cathy Mayorkas, the Director of Public Interest Programs at the UCLA School of Law, has for years been inspiring students to become lawyers for the people.

Mia Yamamoto, a criminal defense attorney and long-time champion of just but unpopular causes, and current defense counsel for immigrant rights protesters.

Pete Navarro, this year's recipient of the Hon. Robert W. Kenny Award, is a criminal defense and civil rights attorney who embodies the very best of all the National Lawyers Guild stands for and strives for.

Reem Salah is receiving a special award for her recent heroic work on behalf of the UCI-11 protesters and on behalf of Muslim rights, in general.

THE NATIONAL LAWYERS GUILD is a 74-year old human rights bar association that believes human rights are more sacred than property interests.
